

Find Your Hidden Treasure at Staples

Did you know that Staples offers you more than just office products? Staples is also your one source provider for the technology products and services that you need to keep your office running. Not only can you trust Staples to provide you with pens, paper and toner, but you can also count on Staples to provide you with the desktop technology items you use every day. With a broad assortment of products from flash drives to shredders and printers and their new outsourced IT services for small businesses, Staples is now your technology solution. With Staples you can:

Leverage Staples' relationship with top tech vendors

Staples is directly partnered with several of the largest and most well known manufacturers in the industry. They work with suppliers such as HP, Brother, Plantronics, Garmin, Acer, Microsoft, Logitech and more to ensure you get the best products at the most competitive prices.

Take advantage of great pricing

Staples has a combined purchasing buying power of 27 billion dollars that they utilize in order to show you the most consistent savings all around.

Save, thanks to reduced procurement and invoicing costs

Nearly all of their products receive free shipping (many times, free next day shipping) since approximately 80 percent of the products are shipped directly from their own warehouses. Your technology items are available on the same StaplesLink.com platform that you are currently using to buy your office products. Buying on StaplesLink.com can save you time by cutting down on multiple invoices and extra paperwork.

Get needs assessments, recommendations and analysis

Staples has a team of technology experts that can evaluate your environment, recommend the best product and ensure you get it for the best price. And, for smaller businesses with 10-250 employees they can provide you with complete outsourced IT services through their Staples Network Services offering. They have a national network of engineers that can provide on-site or remote IT support 24/7.

Staple's technology team has developed a new pricing program for many of the most popular technology items. These items can be found in the "Technology" Shopping list on StaplesLink.com.

Staples makes it easy for you to focus on what you do best - run your business. Let them handle your technology product and service needs today.
