

Jenkins Diesel Power

Jenkins Diesel Power is a second generation family business serving the Midwest U.S. region for the last 53 years. Our specialty is forming partner relationships with our customers for their medium and heavy duty truck transportation requirements. For the last five years we have assisted BuyMax Alliance-members nationwide in the purchase of Isuzu new and used trucks, parts and maintenance support, product updates, industry information updates and special promotions available after your initial purchase. We offer both gas and diesel Isuzu low cab forward trucks.

For most small businesses, truck purchases are their most expensive single expenditure. However, overall cost of ownership includes fuel, parts and service expenditures which can represent 4-5 times the initial cost of your truck. Our objective is to provide the overall lowest cost of lifetime ownership to give you the best value for your transportation dollars.

Jenkins Diesel offers several financing options to best fit your specific budget needs.

We understand what downtime means to you; your need for fuel efficient trucks; dependable and reliable transportation and a partner to be there for you through out the life of your truck so that you can focus on your core business.

Give us the opportunity to show you how we can be a valuable transportation partner for the life of your truck. Visit www.jenkinsdiesel.com for more information.
